Who am I to tell the Pope how to be, well . . . the Pope? But after President Raul Castro of Cuba, an observant Communist for most of his life, said he was so impressed with Francis that he was considering returning to the Catholic Church, I would have liked for the Pope to first have handed him a list of political prisoners, adding, “Free these people, and then we’ll talk.”

In order to stop the players of tomorrow being out of pocket and susceptible to match-fixers the PFA, as part of its life skills programme, teaches young players aged 16 to 18 coming into the game basic financial realities, including that an earning career in football might be short.

Nothing trumps the need for people to be careful, truthful and responsible when it comes to their intimate relationships. But we’re long past the days when fear and panic spread faster than the disease itself.

The Rangers won face-offs on this night, and still lost the game. The Rangers scored two power play goals on this night. And lost the game. Outshot the Lightning, by a lot. And lost. The Lightning made them pay for every mistake, as they were passing the puck around like the old Knicks. And basically kicked the Rangers all the way to Tampa.

While I don't think Apple is due for a similar collapse this time around, I also don't think it's worth $240 yet. It could eventually get there, but probably not until the iPhone 7, and possibly not without another significant decline, after the iPhone 6 reaches saturation.
