“If we had some rain, you know obviously he was in a storm drain, so it could have ended very badly for him,” Williams told the TV station. “I think he had a guardian angel overlooking him and he was able to get out of there alive.”

The IMO said it will be a matter for individual GPs whether to accept the terms offered in the under sixes contract. Not every GP may agree to take part in the under sixes scheme, and a rival GP organisation, the NAGP, has advised its members not to sign up for it.

Gay marriage and adoption are issues being hotly debated in Colombia after the country’s constitutional court last year ruled that same-sex couples could only adopt a child if it was the offspring of one of the partners.

“After the Patriots cut him, I didn’t know (if he’d get another chance in the NFL),” Decker admitted. “The NFL is a league that has a lot of drop-back passers. That’s what you see. Honestly there’s other quarterbacks that can run it well — (Colin) Kaepernick, Russell Wilson — but ultimately they can throw the ball in the pocket. I know (Tebow) can throw the ball, but his skillset is — let’s call it unique. It’s different.”

Microsoft hasn’t offered many other details about the tournament, like how the players will actually compete or how winners will be determined. There also have been no announcements on if there will be any prizes awarded to the winners — other than bragging rights.
"The transaction is consistent with Shell's strategy to concentrate its downstream footprint on a smaller number of assets and markets where it can be most competitive, and is part of an ongoing exit from the LPG business globally," Shell said.