Eric King, deputy director of Privacy International, said: “The underhand and undemocratic manner in which the Government is seeking to make lawful GCHQ’s hacking operations is disgraceful. Hacking is one of the most intrusive surveillance capabilities available to any intelligence agency, and its use and safeguards surrounding it should be the subject of proper debate.

Rick van Warner, a spokesman for the company, said managers of the branch "chose to ignore the warnings and advice from both the police and our company, and did not uphold the high security standards we have in place to ensure everyone is safe at our restaurants."

“I saved a couple of Fords, and for some reason I’d get them done and have a hard time selling them,” he said. “With the Chevrolet products, they were easier to work on, and it was simple to make them fast.”

Sure enough, the rhythm mattered. A region of the brain called the superior temporal sulcus (STS) lit up like a Christmas tree during the 480- and 960-millisecond quilts, but not nearly as much during the 30-millisecond samples. In other words, when the sounds were cut in such a way that they resembled the manner in which humans are believed to recognize speech (that is, in words and syllables and not individual phonemes), more of the brain became active.

The officers' attorneys have questioned her impartiality and asked a judge to replace her or dismiss the case. In court filings, they have said she moved too quickly to charge the officers because of the unrest in West Baltimore, where her husband is a city councilman. Other conflicts of interest include Mosby's political relationship with an attorney representing the Gray family, the attorneys said.

That’s the challenge faced by every competitor in this space. Satellite television is more limited with its technology so it must transform. AT&T is acquiring DirecTV. The next question is about Dish Network’s future.

Garreth Wood, who is the managing director of a pub and restaurant chain, and his wife Nicola, said they were making the donation to try to "prevent other families going through the same heartache we did".

With St. Louis trying to chase Johnson down, Lundqvist stopped Johnson’s initial shot but the rebound hit off Johnson’s right skate. It appeared Lundqvist was going to be able handle the puck, but St. Louis was charging at full speed and he slid into Lundqvist causing the puck to go into the net before the goal became dislodged. The original call on the ice was no goal, but video review showed the puck clearly crossed the goal line before the goal came loose.
