"Without the answer to these questions this announcement is empty headline-grabbing and shows that even after polling day, politicians are still avoiding the difficult questions and continuing to play games with the NHS."

FRANKFURT/LONDON, May 19 (Reuters) - A number of banks have put off possible investments in Britain until after a referendum on its future in the European Union, a lobby group said on Tuesday, after Deutsche Bank revealed it was considering cutting down its UK operations should the country pull out.

"We don't know whether women are more physiologically vulnerable as some prior research suggests that decreases in blood flow to the heart caused by acute mentally-induced stress is more common in women and individuals with less social support."

During a 15-minute conversation, Loria’s faith in Jennings as a baseball man was his strongest point of emphasis. He rejected my suggestion that a man who has not been in the big league clubhouse could struggle to relate to players.

"So, irrespective of the Supreme Court ruling because they are going to decide whatever they decide - I don’t know what they are going to do - we need to be stalwart supporters of traditional marriage," said Bush, who converted to Catholicism 20 years ago.

Pixar has history at Cannes, where "Up" opened the festival in 2009. "Inside Out" is the studio's first new movie since "Monsters University" in 2013, and Pixar's reputation as a hit machine is riding on its success.

As for the rest, Bratton suggested a program that might offer a break if people came forward to close out their cases. Paying fines would be a must, if only to deny the benefit of breaking the rules.

The left-hander gave up six runs - four earned - in 6 1-3 in Thursday's 6-5 loss at Wrigley Field, causing his ERA to climb by more than half a run. It was only the second time in seven starts he gave up more than two earned runs.

The cost reduction mantra was one highlighted repeatedly at the conference in the Malaysian capital, but the focus of most speakers was on how to drive efficiencies within existing businesses, and how to deliver greenfield projects without the cost blowouts that typify the resource industry.

"The virus, in this case Ebola, has shown how easy it is for a single cross-border traveller or unsafe burial to reignite the epidemic again," WHO Director-General Margaret Chan told Tuesday's two-hour briefing. "We have come too far to allow things to slip back."

It said the bottom line had been hit by a 3.5 billion rouble loss from the revaluation of its foreign currency-denominated debt and 1.7 billion roubles in loss provisions related to its deposits at insolvent Ukrainian banks.
